Winged Sentinels Birds and Climate Change

Australian Author

By Janice Wormworth and Çağan H. Şekercioğlu

"The ability of the birds to show us the consequences of our own actions is among their most important and least appreciated attributes. Despite the free advice of the birds, we do not pay attention." Marjory Stoneman Douglas, 1947

Environmental Science. From ice-dependent penguins of Antarctica to songbirds that migrate across the Sahara, birds' responses provide early warning signs of the impact of climate change. Winged Sentinels: Birds and Climate Change uses colourful examples to show how particular groups of birds face heightened threats from climate change, and to explore how we can help birds adapt in a warming world.

Generously illustrated with colour photographs, the book is a fascinating insight into what climate change means for birds, and the potential consequences of ignoring these warning signs.

How to Fold It

The Mathematics of Linkages, Origami and Polyhedra

Joseph O'Rourke explains fascinating folding problems with the help of 200 colour figures and 50 exercises.

by Joseph O'Rourke, Smith College, Massachusetts

Recreational Mathematics. What do proteins and pop-up cards have in common? How can you cut out the letters for a whole word all at once with one straight scissors cut? With the help of 200 colour figures, Joseph O'Rourke explains these fascinating folding problems starting from high school algebra and geometry and introducing more advanced concepts in tangible contexts as they arise. He shows how variations on these basic problems lead directly to the frontiers of current mathematical research and offers ten accessible unsolved problems for the enterprising reader.

Key features:

- The book's companion website, www.howtofoldit.org, has dynamic animations of many of the foldings and downloadable templates for readers to fold or cut out.
- Nearly 200 color figures and 50 exercises, with complete solutions
- Presumes only high-school algebra and geometry, is written in accessible language and discusses tangible topics.
