Should Race Matter?

Unusual Answers to the Usual Questions

This provocative and important new book is sure to spark controversy and should be of interest to anyone interested in trying to resolve the debate over these important and divisive issues.

by David Boonin, University of Colorado, Boulder

Philosophy. In this book, philosopher David Boonin attempts to answer the moral questions raised by five important and widely contested racial practices: slave reparations, affirmative action, hate speech restrictions, hate crime laws and racial profiling. Defended with the rigor that has characterized his previous work but written in a more widely accessible style, this provocative and important new book is sure to spark controversy and should be of interest to philosophers, legal theorists and anyone interested in trying to resolve the debate over these important issues.

Key features:

- Discusses five race-related issues that are almost never discussed in depth in the same book
- Defends an unusual set of thought-provoking conclusions that is neither liberal nor conservative
- Written by a professional philosopher but in a style that is accessible to general readers

Intelligence for an Age of Terror

by Gregory F. Treverton

Politics, social theory. This book emphasizes how much the analysis of terrorism has changed now that the perpetrators are no longer simply state-backed actors. Terrorist acts also no longer tell a 'story' but occur with virtually no signals beforehand. Terrorists consistently adapt to our vulnerabilities and make us less secure than ever before.

Winged Sentinels: Birds and Climate Change by Janice Wormworth and Cagan H. Sekercioglu

"While academic Cagan Sekercioglu and science writer Janice Wormworth make a plea for protecting such winged wonders, a key point they make in their book is that changes in the behaviour of birds, from adeline penguins to zebra finches, are clues to significant changes in the world's climate. It's a timely read. Plus, the cover photo is stunning." Review in the Weekend Australian - August 27, 2011
