Curtin's Empire

By James Curran

Australian Author

This book breathes new life into the Curtin story by revealing a dimension of his leadership that, until now, has been either ignored or played down – his vision for Australia's place in the British Empire.

John Curtin remains a venerated leader. His role as Labor's wartime supremo is etched deep into the national psyche: the man who put Australia first, locked horns with Churchill, forged the alliance with the United States and became the saviour of the nation in its darkest hour.

Drawing on new archival material including sensitive and private correspondence from Curtin never before seen or quoted, Curtin's Empire shows that this British world vision was not imposed on him from abroad, rather it animated Curtin from deep within. Since entering politics Curtin had fought a bitter battle with his opponents – both inside and outside his party – over loyalty, identity and national security. At stake was how he and Labor related to the defining idea of Australian politics for their times: Britishness.

SPECIAL FEATURES

- Draws on new archival material from London, Washington and Canberra, including sensitive and private correspondence from Curtin never before seen or quoted
- Challenges one of the most powerful myths in Australian history, that Curtin was a 'nationalist' leader who turned from Britain and forged the alliance with the United States – thus setting the country's strategic posture for the next half century
- Shows that as Prime Minister, Curtin convinced his own party to endorse his vision of the Empire's future
- Discusses Curtin's legacy and memory, examining the rhetoric of Gough Whitlam, Bob Hawke, Paul Keating and Kevin Rudd to show how each of them has focused on one particular strain of the Curtin legend.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

James Curran is Senior Lecturer in the Department of History and the US Studies Centre, University of Sydney.

Armies of Empire

The 9th Australian and 50th British Divisions in Battle 1939-1945

By Allan Converse

Australian Author

Armies of Empire uniquely reflects upon the experience of two divisions from different armies facing similar challenges in the Second World War.

The 9th Australian Division and the British 50th (Northumbrian) Division both saw long service and suffered heavy casualties, and both encountered morale, discipline and battlefield effectiveness problems. In this illuminating, comparative study of Australian and British divisions at war, Allan Converse draws extensively on primary sources as well as recent scholarship on morale and combat efficiency.

His fresh approach questions the popular mythology surrounding the Australian Digger and the British Tommy, and shows how it was a combination of leadership, loyalty and tactics, rather than intrinsic national qualities, which resulted in victory for Churchill's armies.

The Cambridge Companion to C. S. Lewis

Edited by Robert MacSwain, University of the South, Sewanee and Michael Ward, University of Oxford

Original in its approach, this Companion shows that C. S. Lewis was much more than merely the man behind Narnia.

Literature. A distinguished academic, influential Christian apologist, and best-selling author of children's literature, C. S. Lewis is a controversial and enigmatic figure who continues to fascinate, fifty years after his death.

Key features:

- The first comprehensive single-volume study written by an international team of scholars to survey Lewis's career as a literary historian, popular theologian, and creative writer.
- Contributors include both established Lewis specialists and academics distinguished in other related fields, such as literary criticism, intellectual history, theology and philosophy.
- Some chapters consider his professional contribution to fields such as critical theory and intellectual history, while others assess his views on issues including moral knowledge, gender, love and suffering.

The Cambridge Introduction to Charles Dickens

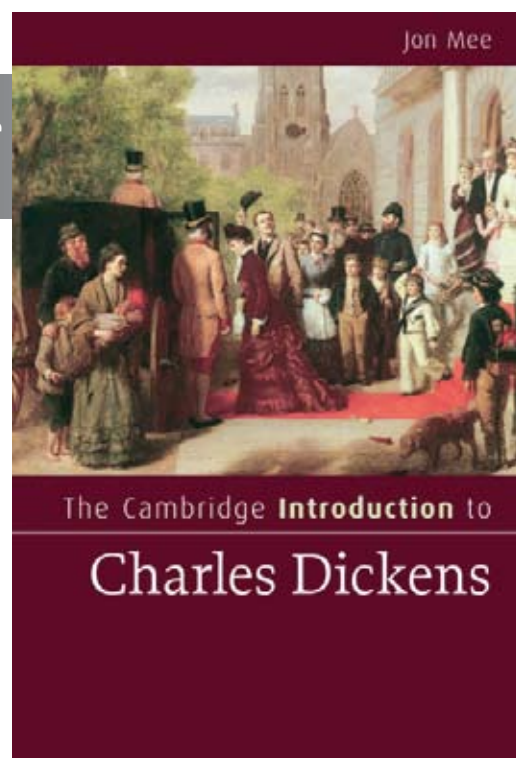

by Jon Mee, University of Warwick

This lively and accessible introduction to Dickens focuses on the extraordinary diversity of his writing.

Literature. Jon Mee discusses Dickens's novels, journalism and public performances, the historical contexts and his influence on other writers. Five major themes emerge: Dickens the entertainer; Dickens and language; Dickens and London; Dickens, gender, and domesticity; and the question of adaptation, including Dickens's adaptations of his own work.

Key features:

- Introduces the diversity and range of the Dickens canon.
- Covers key issues in current scholarship on Dickens.
- Discussion of key issues allow readers to start making their own new connections between his famous and less widely read works and to appreciate fully the sheer imaginative richness of his writing, which particularly evokes the dizzying expansion of nineteenth-century London.

The Cambridge Introduction to Shakespeare's Poetry

by Michael Schoenfeldt, University of Michigan

Celebrates the achievement of Shakespeare as a poet, providing students with ways of understanding and his remarkable poems.

Literature. Shakespeare's poems, aside from the enduring appeal of the Sonnets, are much less familiar today than his plays, despite being enormously popular in his lifetime. This Introduction honours the aesthetic and intellectual complexity of these poems without making them seem unapproachably complicated.

Key features:

- Suggests that today's readers are better able to analyse aspects of the poems that were formerly ignored or the source of scandal.
- Covers all of Shakespeare's non-dramatic poetry, rather than focussing exclusively on the Sonnets.
- Addresses the controversies surrounding Shakespearean authorship, including the claim that the works of William Shakespeare were not written by William Shakespeare.

Presents a highly effective self-help programme for all eating disorders, in an accessible format.

by Glenn Waller. Institute of Psychiatry, London, Victoria Mountford, Rachel Lawson, Emma Gray, Helen Cordery, Hendrik Hinrichsen

Medicine. Do you or does someone you know, suffer from an eating disorder? The most effective, evidence-based treatment for adults with eating disorders is cognitive-behavioural therapy (CBT). It teaches skills to sufferers and carers alike. This book is relevant to any sufferer, if:

- You are not yet sure about whether to seek help
- You are not sure where to find help
- Your family doctor or others recommend that you try a self-help approach
- You are waiting for therapy with a clinician, and want to get the best possible start to beating your eating disorder.

Key features:

- Written in an accessible format - illustrated with rich vignettes and colourful analogies to provide a context for recovery.
- Represents the key elements of CBT for a range of eating disorders, enabling carers and sufferers to work together.
- Equally helpful for families and friends by giving them the support they need to be a powerful ally in recovery.

A History of East Asia

From the Origins of Civilization to the Twenty-First Century

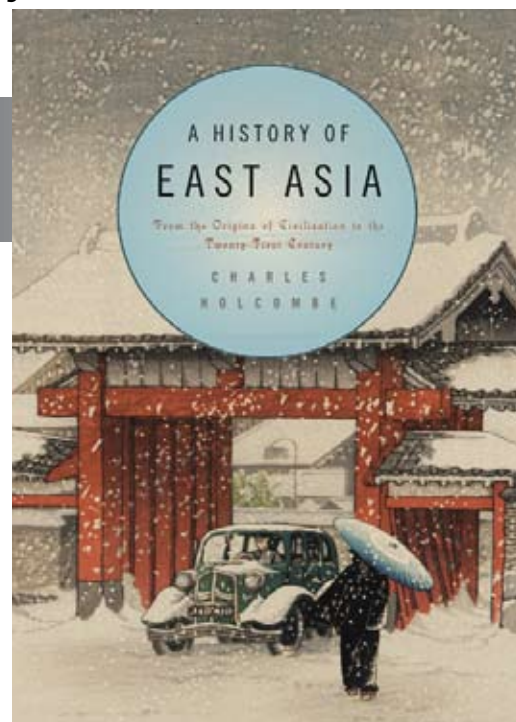

by Charles Holcombe, University of Northern Iowa

Traces the story of East Asia from the dawn of history to the twenty-first century.

History. In the modern age, many of the features that made the region distinct have been submerged by the effects of revolution, politics or globalization. Yet, as an ancient civilization, the region had both an historical and cultural coherence. It shared a Confucian heritage, a writing system that is deeply imbued with ideas and meaning, and many political and institutional traditions. This shared past and the interconnections among three distinct, yet related societies are at the heart of this book.

Key features:

- An introduction to East Asia from the dawn of history to the present by a premier scholar in the field.

Is Eating People Wrong?

Great Legal Cases and How they Shaped the World

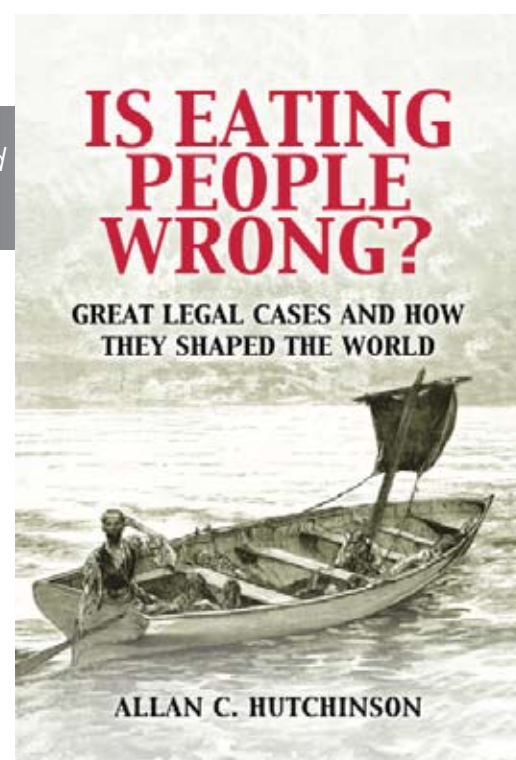

by Allan C. Hutchinson, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University

Explores eight exemplary cases from the United Kingdom, the United States, and Australia that show the law as a living, breathing experience

Law. Great cases are those judicial decisions around which the common law develops. This book explores eight exemplary cases from the United Kingdom, the United States, and Australia that show the law as a living, breathing, and down-the-street experience. It explores the social circumstances in which the cases arose and the ordinary people whose stories influenced and shaped the law as well as the characters and institutions (lawyers, judges, and courts) that did much of the heavy lifting.

Key features:

- Looks behind the mystery of the law.
- Debunks the myths about judicial law-making.
- Shows law as a messy and pragmatic social practice rather than a detached exercise in formal rule-application.

Coping with Choices to Die

by Carlos Prado, Queen's University, Ontario

Philosophy. Examines how reactions to elective death are influenced by cultural influences and beliefs. Understanding the role of these influences on the grieving processes of survivors is a crucial step in allowing them to accept the finality of elective death and to deal with the decision of their loved one.

Written by former minister and Labor historian Rodney Cavalier, Power Crisis is an explosive account of the self-destruction of the New South Wales Labor government.

"This is superior political history, deeply informed by contact with the participants and shaped by an understanding of Labor's institutions and practices learned over a lifetime. It is also a delight for readers who respect the ability it takes to fashion a coherent summary of a floor fight." - Stephen Matchett, 'The Australian', 06 October

"Cavalier, an elder statesman of NSW politics, has written a book that will shake the foundations of the Labor Party and offend most of its leaders." - Andrew West, 'Southern Highlands News', October 11th

MORE MEDIA FOR POWER CRISIS:

The Artist and the Scientists: Bringing Prehistory to Life

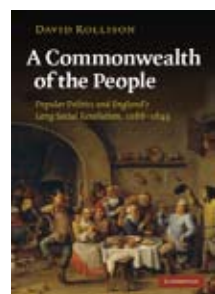

by Peter Trusler, Patricia Vickers-Rich, Monash University and Thomas H. Rich, Museum Victoria

Told from the viewpoints of both scientist and artist, the reader is given a unique insight into the process of preserving and recording the evolution of prehistoric life.

"The best scientific illustrator in the known universe has teamed up with the paleontologists who discovered the famous dinosaurs of darkness, fossils of big-eyed dinos that lived in frigid polar regions, something never before thought possible. Not only are the reproductions stunning, the book reveals how the authors have collaborated over 30 years, travelling the world in search of the remains of ancient animals."

- Leigh Dayton, 'The Weekend Australian', October 16th

"It is partly biography but, crucially, describes the challenges of joint projects, of how the interplay between science and imagination resulted in the dozens of intricately rendered illustrations reproduced in the book." - Jill Rowbotham, 'The Weekend Australian', August 4th

A Commonwealth of the People

Popular Politics and England's Long Social Revolution, 1066-1649

by David Rollison

A Commonwealth of the People has been shortlisted for The NSW Premier's History Prize.

This book asks how and why a small island people became the nucleus of an empire 'on which the sun never set'. David Rollison argues that the 'English explosion' was the outcome of a long social revolution with roots deep in the medieval past.

Smart Solutions to Climate Change: Comparing Costs and Benefits

by Bjørn Lomborg

Controversial climate change expert Bjørn Lomborg discusses radical solutions to climate change in anticipation of his sixth book published by Cambridge.

"Nothing has been resolved since the Copenhagen climate talks fell apart last year. Fortunately, recent research points to a smarter way to tackle climate change." - Bjørn Lomborg, 'The Australian', 14 Sep.

Either you believe global warming is the worst problem mankind has ever faced and that cutting carbon is the only solution, or you are an antiscientific ignoramus who probably thinks the Earth is flat.

- Bjørn Lomborg, 'The Wall Street Journal', 15 Sep.
