The Cambridge Star Atlas

By Wil Tirion

fourth edition

Astronomy. This classic star atlas is ideal for both beginning astronomers and more experienced observers worldwide. The clear, full-color maps show stars, clusters and galaxies visible with binoculars or a small telescope. The atlas also features constellation boundaries and the Milky Way, and lists objects that are interesting to observe.

This new edition features a clearer map of the Moon's surface, showing craters and features; a second Moon map, mirror reversed for users of telescopes with star diagonals; enhanced index charts showing the constellations more clearly; and a new data table listing stars hosting planetary systems. It is now spiral bound, making it ideal for use at the telescope.

- Suitable for Southern Hemisphere observers

The Editor's Companion

2nd Edition

Australian Author

An essential tool for professional editors, as well as media and publications officers, self-publishers and writers editing their own work.

by Janet Mackenzie

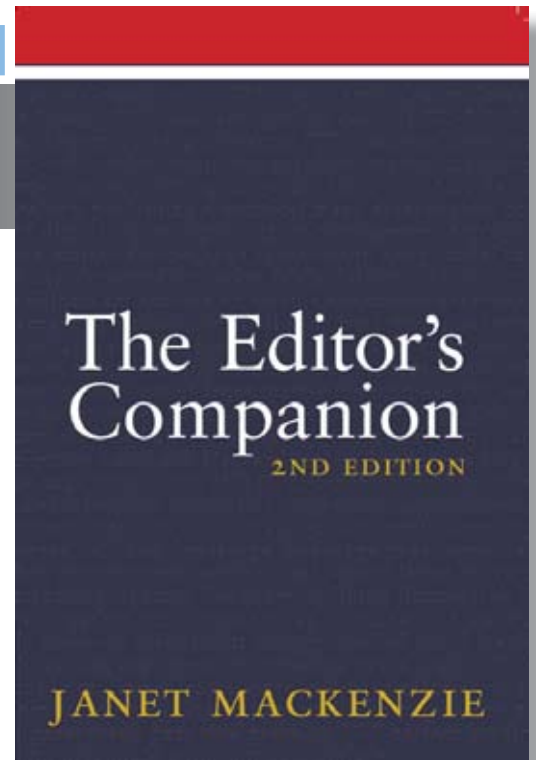

Editing/Media. As the knowledge economy takes shape, editors face many challenges. Technology is transforming publishing, text is losing out to graphics, and writing is distorted by cliché, hype and spin. More than ever, editors are needed to add value to information and to rescue readers from boredom and confusion. The Editor's Companion explains the traditional skills of editing for publication and how to adapt them for digital production. It is an essential tool for professional editors, media and publications officers, self-publishers and writers editing their own work.

- Over 3,000 copies of the first edition sold!

Key features:

- Revised edition covers on-screen editing, single-source publishing and digital rights, a comprehensive glossary of editing terms and a companion website developed especially for students that includes editing exercises, expert 'tips' and essential weblinks.
- Examines useful software for editing for managing references and for running an editing business.

A Global History of History

A ground-breaking guide to human efforts to recover, understand and represent their past.

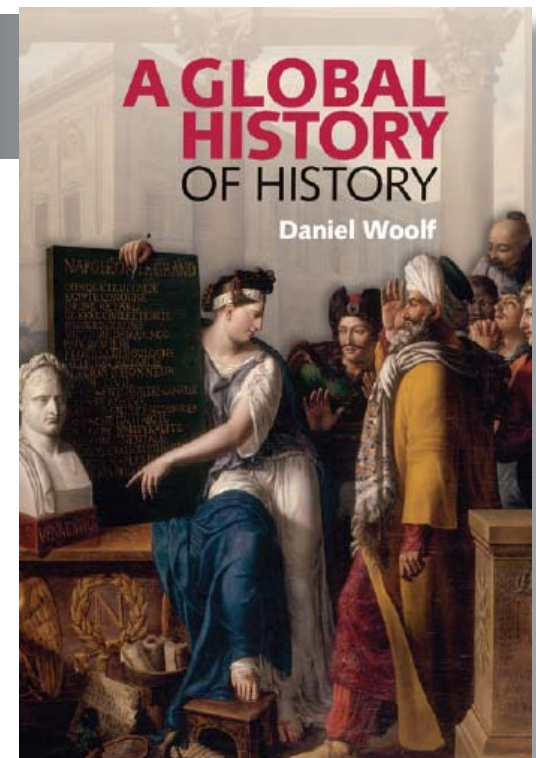

by Daniel Woolf, Queen's University, Ontario

History. A global history of historical writing, thought and the development of the historical discipline from the ancient world to the present. This is a definitive guide to human efforts to recover, understand and represent the past, bringing together different historical traditions and their social, economic, political and cultural contexts.

Key features:

- Offers clear definitions of different genres and forms of history, as well as key themes such as the interactions between West and East, the conflict of oral, pictographic, and written accounts of the past and the place of history in society and in politics.
- Extensive text extracts and illustrations connect historical theory to practice by illustrating the different ways in which societies have interpreted and represented the past.
- Subject boxes and timelines enable readers to draw out key topics and understand their place in the overall narrative.

Shattering Empires

The Clash and Collapse of the Ottoman and Russian Empires 1908 – 1918

by Michael A. Reynolds, Princeton University

History. The fall of the Ottoman and Russian empires irrevocably changed the landscape of the Middle East and Eurasia. Drawing on extensive archival research, Shattering Empires overturns accounts that attribute their demise to conflicting nationalisms, proposing instead the significance of geopolitical competition and the emergence of a new global inter-state order.
